

Definition of Professional Misconduct

Professional Misconduct:

Professional misconduct is conduct which is disgraceful, dishonorable, improper or unbecoming a pastoral leader in the Convention of Atlantic Baptist Churches. A pastor's conduct may be considered to be professional misconduct if it is established that the pastor has engaged in immoral or unethical behavior which transgresses standards of Scripture, examples of which include but are not limited to the following:

Abuse of any kind

Harm or threatened harm to a person's health or welfare which occurs through non-accidental physical or mental injury.

Abuse of pastoral power and position

Pastoral power and position are abused in order to exert and maintain control over others to accomplish one's goals or for personal gratification. Pastoral abuse of power comes in many forms, including misusing one's position of power and trust to:

- Cultivate relationships that are immoral or destructive.
- Attack an individual or individuals deliberately and personally from the pulpit.
- Seek personal financial gain, such as personal loans and other benefits.
- Disseminate false information and rumors to discredit those who are opposed to one's vision and plans for the future of the church.
- Threaten eternal consequences to maintain one's control over the life decisions and the support of their congregants.
- Set oneself up as the sole channel through whom God speaks to the congregation, and charging those who dissent with disobedience to God and calling for their removal from the membership.

Criminal activity of any kind as defined in the Criminal Code

Gambling

Improper influence of Pastoral Search Committees

The use of one's influence to interfere with the process of a pastoral search committee for personal gain or to promote a favored candidate.
